Pilgrimage Ponderings

There is no denying the impact of climate change on our seasons, perhaps the most obvious being the unexpectedly dry summer and warmer than normal winter. We have a pond on our property, in rural Bryan, and I have noted that in the 15 years I've lived here the pond has never been lower than it is this summer. Our lawn is already like straw. It's amazing that the crops in the fields are thriving as well as they are - evidence of hybridization of seed and miraculous creativity of God. Without diligent watering of gardens there would be limited harvest.

Over the past few months, as an additional aspect of my increased consciousness regarding the need for hydration, I have sent Rachel, (who is still on her grand bicycle adventure from Atlantic to Pacific,) boxes packed full of items to supplement the water she carries in a hydration pack on her bike - the supplements are called Liquid IV. They add electrolytes and other important elements to the water to aid her body while exercising at varying altitudes, and extreme temperatures.

We are water dependent for life. Battles over our local aquifer and news reports highlighting both flooding and drought conditions remind us that water is life and water is powerful. So is baptism life and powerful. Water splashed on our heads, with the promise of God's eternal claim spoken, gives us life and power.

Martin Luther, the founder of our tradition in Christianity, would say, "When you wash your face each day, remember you are baptized." Hydrate yourself in that gift. Let God's claim as beloved seep into your very soul. Allow the promise of power and life, to encourage and lift you in hope. Walk wet in the world and drip goodness and grace everywhere you go.

Peace be with you, always!

WORSHIP FOCUS AUGUST

August 5 & 6 Tenth Weekend after Pentecost

In today's first reading God invites all who are hungry or thirsty to receive food and drink without cost. Jesus feeds the hungry multitude and reveals the abundance of God. At the eucharistic table we remember all who are hungry or poor in our world today. As we share the bread of life, we are sent forth to give ourselves away as bread for the hungry.

August 12 & 13 Eleventh Weekend after Pentecost

Elijah finds the presence of God not in earthquake, wind, or fire, but in the sound of sheer silence. When the disciples face a great storm on the sea, they cry out with fear. Jesus says: "Take heart, it is I, do not be afraid." Amid the storms of life, we gather to seek the calm presence of Christ that soothes our fears. In comforting words of scripture and in the refreshing bread and cup of the eucharist, God grants us peace and sends us forth to be a sign of God's presence to others.

August 20 Twelfth Sunday after Pentecost

In Isaiah we hear that God's house shall be a house of prayer for all people and that God will gather the outcasts of Israel. The Canaanite woman in today's gospel is a Gentile, an outsider, who is unflinching in her request that Jesus heal her daughter. As Jesus commends her bold faith, how might our church extend its mission to those on the margins of society? In our gathering around word and meal we receive strength to be signs of comfort, healing, and justice for those in need.

August 26 & 27 Thirteenth Weekend after Pentecost

In Isaiah the people are advised to look to their spiritual ancestors as the rock from which they were hewn. Jesus declares that the church will be built on the rock of Peter's bold confession of faith. God's word of reconciliation and God's mercy are keys to the church's mission. Paul urges us to not be conformed to this world but to offer our bodies as a living sacrifice, using our individual gifts to build up the body of Christ. From the table we go forth to offer our spiritual worship through word and deed.

WISE WORDS

Can you name the season we are in for the church year? Each Sunday in our church bulletins, it reminds us this is the _____ Sunday after Pentecost. But this time of year is also called the Ordinary Season. Which name do you prefer?

Doesn't it seem strange that Easter is a season of 50 days, Christmas of 12 and Pentecost, celebrating the birth of the church only gets one day? But the Ordinary or After Pentecost season goes on for weeks on the liturgical calendar from now until the beginning of Advent.

Ordinary time sounds so drab, doesn't it? However, it helps to realize that "Ordinary" does not mean boring or mundane. The origin of the name Ordinary Time comes from the Latin word ordinalis, which means "numbered." This is the season that is not named for a major feast. The weeks are numbered instead. It is meant to be the season when we are God's people focus on our work out into the world. This is the time for mission, for compassion, for caring and sharing. This is the season when we show ourselves as the people of God with the values of peace and justice and love that are the hallmark of God's kingdom.

In our churches in Ordinary Time, we hear stories about how Jesus lived out his mission on earth. During this season the emphasis is also on how we are called to live out the Gospel while on earth. How do we live as Christ one day at a time, not only in the notable experiences of life, but also in the mundane?

Ordinary time provides a perfect canvas on which to portray how God works through us in daily life in our families, our work, our relationships with our neighbors, in our communities, and in the world, in our care for creation, in our recreation and leisure activities.

Listen to the Bible readings and consider how you can follow Jesus more deeply in this ordinary time of year. Pay attention to discover God in all things. Ask God what area of your spiritual walk needs nourishment. Let's make the Ordinary season, a time of growth, life, and renewal and become extraordinary messengers of the Gospel, even in the ordinary times of life.

*My prayer this season is to see God in the bubbles of the dish water, to feel his presence in the cold dirt as I weed,
to spend time with him on partly cloudy, average temperature days,
to marvel at his creativity in the ant, ladybug, and fly buzzing in my house,
to be grateful for the aroma of coffee and the taste of fresh peaches, to savor the smiles of friends and the giggles of grandchildren, to play hide and seek with a joy filled God, peeking out in the spaces of the day.*

Jeanie

WORSHIP FOCUS SEPTEMBER

Sept 3 Fourteenth Sunday after Pentecost
The prophet Jeremiah speaks of the incurable wound of his suffering yet finds in God's words the delight of his heart. When Peter doesn't grasp Jesus' words about suffering, Jesus tells the disciples they will find their lives in losing them. Such sacrificial love is described by Paul when he urges us to associate with the lowly and not repay evil with evil. In worship we gather as a community that we might offer ourselves for the sake of our suffering world.

Sept 9 & 10 Fifteenth Weekend after Pentecost
Conflict is a part of relationships and life in community. Jesus' words in today's gospel are often used in situations having to do with church discipline. The prophet Ezekiel tells of warning the wicked to turn from their ways, and Paul reminds us that love is the fulfilling of the law. We gather in the name of Christ, assured that he is present among us with gifts of peace and reconciliation.

Sept 16 & 17 Sixteenth Weekend after Pentecost
In today's second reading Paul questions why we judge one another, since we all stand before the judgment of God. Yet we do sin against one another, and Jesus' challenge that we forgive seventy-seven times reveals God's boundless mercy. When we hear the words of forgiveness in worship and sign ourselves with the cross, we are renewed in baptism to be signs of reconciliation in the world.

Sept 23 & 24 Seventeenth Weekend after Pentecost
Matthew narrates one of Jesus' controversial parables in which Jesus says that the reign of God is like that of a landowner who pays his workers the same wage no matter what time of day they began to work. When God changes God's mind about punishing Nineveh for their evil ways, Jonah is angry. Yet God is gracious and merciful, abounding in steadfast love. In baptism we receive the grace of God that is freely given to all. As Martin Luther wrote, in the presence of God's mercy we are all beggars.

Would there be any interest in a roadtrip to Blue Gate Theatre, Shipshewana

Oh, you'd better not cry wolf...

After years of playing pranks on her family and friends, Candy Shop owner Lydia Miller experiences real-life holiday danger when two men break into her shop to steal her coveted candy recipe. But what began as a burglary, quickly escalates into a kidnapping when the burglars, rebuffed by Lydia and told much the town loves her and will come after them if they harm her in any way, figure they can make far more money in ransom pay.

Unfortunately, being the Amish girl who cried wolf once too often, the town believes the note is just another one of Lydia's pranks and they pay it no mind. This leads to a hilarious back and forth between the kidnapers, the police chief, the bishop, the mayor, and various family members and friends, all trying to get a better bargain for Lydia. Or, instead of cash, would the kidnapers take livestock? Bales of hay? Pie?

Now the kidnapers are stuck with a victim that no one seems to want back.

Lydia can't believe that no one is willing to pay the ransom, or even come see about her. She tries to convince the kidnapers that she really is a good person, and people really do love her. They try to convince her the same about them. Neither Lydia nor the kidnapers' life turned out the way they expected. They all decide to change course. All they want for Christmas is to celebrate it with their loved ones again.

Just when they are at their lowest point, the townspeople break down the door and "rescue" Lydia. The townspeople apologize for not believing her, but some ways, it was her own fault. She agrees and forgives them, promising no more pranks. The police chief wants her to press charges, but Lydia forgives her kidnapers, wanting to give them a second chance at making better decisions, too. The police chief understands, but says that'll be up to the courts.

The musical ends with her almost playing another prank, but she catches herself. She truly has changed. Maybe...

A couple of dates we are looking at would be Thurs, Nov 30; Tues, Dec 5; Wed, Dec 6; Thurs, Dec 7; or Wed, Dec 13. The show is at 1:00pm and the cost for the show is $38.95 plus tax and fees. We would want to have lunch ahead of the show and maybe a little shopping after the show. We would also need a couple drivers.

Please call the church office 419-636-3387 to voice your interest so we can get tickets purchased and make all the plans necessary.

Trinity Lutheran Church Treasurer

Thank you, Mike Bever, for your service to the church, and careful tending of the financial records. We will acknowledge Mike's tenure as Church Treasurer on Sunday, August 27. Plan to extend your gratitude for his service to the congregation.

Welcome, Kim Semer, as the Church Treasurer. Council voted to hire Kim effective June 1, 2023. Kim is an accountant at Schultz, Huber & Associates, Bryan. She is active in Williams County Community Theater and has deep roots in Bryan. Thank you for your careful tending of the church's "books," Kim!
